Spice up MS Office. Microsoft Office is clearly the global standard. As powerful as Office is, there are always more features that could be added. That's why Microsoft offers a slew of add-ins to customize Office to your needs.

There are add-ins for all of the programs in the Office suite. With over 250 from which to choose, browsing for a specific need is not simple. However, there is a search engine to help.

The add-ins are tested and stable. You should not have any difficulty with them. Since they are all free, try out as many as you wish. You may find that perfect add-in to make your life easier.

Auto Window Manager automatically manages any window you specify. For instance, some web browsers open up in a non-maximized window. Using Auto Window Manager, you can set those windows to automatically maximize (minimize, normal, minimize to tray, stay on top) every time they opened. It works with almost any program, including web browsers, Notepad, etc. Auto Window Manager stays running in the system tray, so it stays out of your way while it works. Auto Window Manager adds several menu items to standard window menu accessible via application icon in the title bar. The commands are: Minimize to system tray, always keep window on top, Set window transparency, align window, resize window.

EasyOffice v7 Save money, and help make it less of a Microsoft-run world with this free suite of office tools. EasyOffice includes word-processing, spreadsheet, database, e-mail, contact management, and presentation applications. EasyWord is compatible with Microsoft Word, Adobe PDF, HTML, and ZIP files; it includes English, French, Spanish, Italian, German, Portuguese, Swedish, medical, and legal dictionaries. EasySpreadsheet is compatible with Microsoft Excel, and features one-click e-mailing of your spreadsheets. Both of these applications include a feature that reads your text to help you catch mistakes.

EasyPresentation helps you to create slide presentations, and its EasyContactManager even helps you to produce customized form letters and track appointment dates. Its contact lists can be exported in Excel format.

EasyOffice can do some things MS Office can't, such as creating PDF files. It also has a dictionary that gives you full definitions and--if you're feeling masochistic--a spell checker that can alert you out loud about mistakes. It comes bundled with add-ons such as EasyCalculator financial calculator and the financial program EasyZip. It does not need Microsoft Office to run.
